THIS MONTH'S COVER

The Bronx has properly been called the "Borough of Universities" and BRONXBORO's attractive cover page is submitted in evidence.

Fordham University's attractive campus, known as "Rose Hill," has been situated in our community since 1841 when the school was first founded as St. John's College. It is under the supervision and direction of Jesuit priests, and is one of the Nation's leading Catholic Schools of Higher Education.

Hunter College's history dates back to 1897 and the Bronx Board of Trade played a leading role in establishing the school's Bronx division. The Bronx campus was used by the Navy as a training station for WAVES in World War II and later became the first headquarters of the United Nations.

On New York University's Bronx campus is situated the world renowned Hall of Fame containing busts of outstanding Americans who have to be dead more than 25 years before their candidacy can be considered by a special board of electors.

The College of Mt. St. Vincent for women was founded in 1847 and is still supervised by the Sisters of Charity. Situated on the Hudson River in the Riverdale section of the Bronx, it's campus is among the most attractive in the Nation.

The New York State Maritime College was established in 1874 and first moved to the Bronx in 1938 completing a campaign by the Bronx Board of Trade to settle the school at Fort Schuyler.

Bob "Believe It Or Not" Ripley once itemed the fact that Manhattan College was situated in the Bronx. The Christian Brothers School was founded in Manhattan in 1853, moving to the picturesque location it now occupies in the Bronx in 1922.

In addition to the illustration on BRONXBORO's cover page, one of the four Training Colleges in the United States maintained by the Salvation Army is situated in the Bronx on Andrews Avenue and Montefiore Hospital on Gun Hill Road is an integral part of the medical schools of Columbia University.
